Till another day

The Damourcity.com website was created in 2009 with the goal of providing support for private initiatives and economic development in the Damour region, and to strengthen links and development amongst Damouriens worldwide.

The lack of time and means forced the site to remain static till this day, and it was not able to properly play the role which it was intended for.

With the birth of the AMDI Association, a new verve comes to animate this website. He will wear the colors of this association.

I hope with all my heart that this Website will play a positive role in the Damour future a city that we Love.

Personally, I still believe like many others around me, that Damourcity.com will play again in the future the role for which it was created. Meanwhile, I would like to wish a long life to this website and I hope that AMDI would use it with success making it a new window for Damour worldwide.
